

IXL Website Review

To find the website you have to just search up IXL on Google or Safari on the address bar.

On the website there is a place where you can choose your year group. You can find it by just scrolling down the website.

It is good for home learning since it teaches maths and English.

To use it, you have to choose a year group, a subject and then it asks you questions based on what year group you have chosen.

This website is not good for school learning though as it is a paid website although a free trial is available.

We hope you find this useful.
